Since 1992, Ms. Hatsume Sato has presided over a magical place in northern Japan called "Ischia in the Woods". People from all over the world are drawn to "Ischia" seeking relief from the acute mental and physiological health problem caused by living in such a troubled, stressful world. Ms. Sato provides food, love, healing, energy, advice, and hugs to people who seek her compassion. Her long commitment to social welfare and community based educational activities has earned her numerous awards from the International Soroptimist Society, an organization dedicated to improving the lives of women and girls in more than 120 nations around the world.

Hatsume is back!

Ms. Sato's last visit to Hawaii, in 2008, was a "sold-out" event ! Now she is back; this time to share her thoughts of how to "conjoin your heart with others through love", based on her experiences of more than 30 years of community service.
